

Art Gallery For Sale

For $12,000 you can be the first on your block to own a non-existent New York Art Gallery. That's the selling price established by former Kalamazoo and Galesburg artist Terry Fugate-Wilcox for a file cabinet full of news releases on non-existent shows and a collection of job applications, inquiries from potential exhibitors and press clippings relating to the Jean Freeman Gallery.

The New York artist's mother, Mrs. Dale Wilcox, of Portage, said her son is now working with a publisher on a book describing his recent venture into fooling people.
